Honeywell Announces $5 Billion Share Repurchase Program

MORRIS TOWNSHIP, N.J., Dec. 13, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Honeywell (NYSE: HON) announced today that its Board of Directors has authorized the company to repurchase up to $5 billion of its common stock as part of its cash deployment strategy. The company has a track record of successfully redeploying its cash flow from operations through growth investments in each of its businesses, adding attractive adjacencies through acquisitions, increasing its dividend annually, as well as returning cash to shareholders by way of share repurchases.

"Honeywell has substantially completed the $3 billion share repurchase program authorized by the Board in 2011 and this new share repurchase authorization demonstrates continued confidence in our long-term growth outlook and commitment to delivering value to shareholders through disciplined cash deployment," said Dave Cote, Honeywell Chairman and CEO. "The strength of our balance sheet and strong free cash flow provide us with the flexibility to smartly grow the company and continue to deliver shareholder value."

Honeywell intends to repurchase outstanding shares from time to time in the open market using cash flow generated by its operations.
